

Contents

Preface	1
Chapter One: Introduction	3
The inside story: a portrait of a dyslexic	3
Demystifying and legitimizing	19
A life 'out of step' ...	20
Understanding our 'target group'	22
Towards understanding the bigger picture	24
Learning or knowledge?	25
The social environment — and being politically incorrect	28
Chapter Two: The nature of dyslexia	29
What is it like to be dyslexic?	29
Hiding in plain sight: case presentations	36
Chapter Three: Defining dyslexia	65
Defining dyslexia	65
Dyslexic ... or not? Do I need to get my child tested?	66
Observable characteristics of dyslexia	68
Naming and labelling	72

Chapter Four: Where does dyslexia originate?	75
Where does dyslexia come from?	75
The diesel/petrol analogy	79
So, what is a 'diesel'?	81
What is a self-proclaimed 'diesel thinker'?	83
Chapter Five: A confusing issue	87
Why is it so hard to get useful information about dyslexia?	87
Is dyslexia a product of our educational style?	92
Chapter Six: Labels, definitions and myths	95
Labels	95
Definitions	98
Common myths about dyslexia	101
ADD and ADHD	111
Chapter Seven: Benefits of dyslexia	127
Are there any benefits from being dyslexic?	127
Some advantages	129
Chapter Eight: Verbal language	139
The language of the dyslexic person	139
Mastery	140
Style	142
Pictorial thinking	144
Speech impediments	146
Vocabulary	147

Chapter Nine: Family and home	149
Frustration	150
Depression	153
Parenting the dyslexic child	155
Pictorial thinking — how it plays out in our parenting	156
Concepts of time	163
Consistency, predictability and emotional security	168
Empowerment and disempowerment	174
Empowering the child	175
Chapter Ten: Classroom issues	179
Indicators of pictorial thinking	181
Which helping programme shall I use?	184
Disengagement	185
Teaching truths	189
Responses to avoid	195
Teacher style in the classroom	206
Learning style	207
Chapter Eleven: Other members of the 'dys' community	215
Dyscalculia	215
Dyspraxia and dysgraphia	225
The Last Word	231
The Last, Last Word	233
Appendix: Interventions	237
References and further reading	243
Index	244