

CONTENTS

Foreword	i
Acknowledgements	v
Introduction	1
The nightmare scenario	2
Chapter 1: Values	5
What is your mission?	5
Your content or your audience?	6
The staffroom	7
Taking responsibility	8
Behaviour is a form of communication	10
The growth mindset	12
We don't have to like them	13
Great, enjoyable lessons	14
Staying grounded	15
Children are people	17
We are an event in their lives	18
Takeaways	19
Chapter 2: Responding to Inappropriate Behaviour	21
Look calm	22
Is it really all of them?	23
Anger makes us stupid	25
Reframing	26
Be aware of your emotional state	26
Give them a reason to care	28
Scripts	29
Guiding principles when using scripts	35
Takeaways	41

Chapter 3: Styles	43
Care and structure	43
High structure/low care	44
Low structure/high care	46
Low structure/low care	47
High structure/high care	48
Parent, child or adult?	49
What behaviours wind me up?	52
Proactive or reactive?	55
Takeaways	57
Chapter 4: Routines	59
Organised – to be or to do?	60
Taking the register	60
Being organised: Mrs Thatcher and the Good Samaritan	62
Routines that teach behaviour	62
The first five minutes	64
Lesson structures that provoke curiosity	69
It's getting loud in here!	70
Establish a signal for attention	70
A signal for gaining your attention	72
Can you see my body talk?	73
Whole-school routines	73
Beware routines	74
Takeaways	75
Chapter 5: Relationships	77
Why relationships matter	77
Building relationships	78
The emotional bank account	81
Boundaries	82
Too much information	82
The dreaded 'crush'	83

CONTENTS

Favourites	84
Mine, permanent and safe	85
Keeping promises	90
This stuff can be learned	91
Takeaways	92
Chapter 6: Expectations	95
What do you mean I cannot blame the kids?	95
Tell them what you want	97
What you accept	98
The whole-school dimension	100
Two types of expectations	101
How else do staff communicate their expectations?	102
Communicating expectations	107
Takeaways	108
Chapter 7: Modelling	111
Mrs Baines teaches me a lesson	111
Wearing the crown	112
Acting your authentic self	113
It's a tough world out there	114
Getting it wrong: teachers behaving badly	115
Getting it right	116
1. Self-awareness	116
2. Managing feelings	117
3. Empathy	119
4. Motivation	121
5. Social skills	122
Takeaways	123
Chapter 8: Praise, Rewards and Other Consequences	125
The positive stuff	125
The negative stuff	130
The big picture	134

Restorative approaches	135
Takeaways	136
Chapter 9: Causes	137
Because they are kids!	139
Because of what is happening to their brains	140
Because you talk too much	142
Because some children have unmet special educational or additional needs	143
Because of unstructured time	143
Because of a lack of boundaries	144
Because of poor literacy	145
Takeaways	147
Chapter 10: Reflections	149
Appendix 1: Behaviour Checklist	155
Appendix 2: Pupil Survey	159
Appendix 3: Modelling Self-Review Activity	161
Appendix 4: Responding to Low-Level Disruption	163
Appendix 5: Common Situations Requiring Routines and Protocols	165
Appendix 6: Lesson Review	169
References	171
About the Author	173