

Jackson remembered that his baby sister's body was different from his. He wondered if his friends had different bodies too. "Can I see?" he asked Sami.

Ms. H said, "Vulvas and penises are parts of the body that we call private parts. Those are the parts usually covered by your underwear or swimsuit. They're just for you. It's okay to be curious about other bodies. But we don't show our private parts to others."

Jackson felt embarrassed.
