ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Many people have contributed to the ideas and knowledge that form the basis of this book

We particularly thank our many clients who have shown courage in facing their communication difficulties, determination in working at rebuilding their skills and generosity in sharing their insights with us.

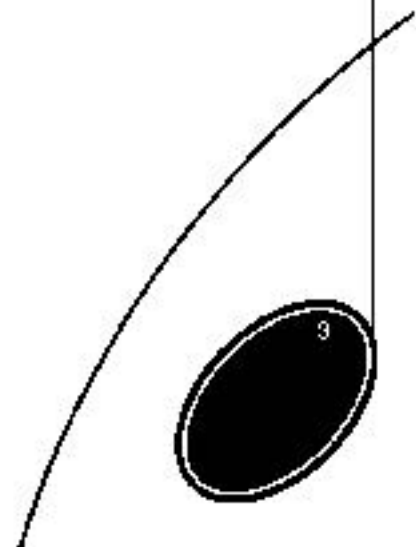

We recognise our colleague Christine Scott for her major role in the development of our knowledge of cognitive neuropsychological theory and her valuable feedback on our work.

Support has also been generously provided by Dr. Jacinta Douglas and Dr. Carmel Lum. We appreciate their expertise, suggestions, encouragement and practical assistance.

Our colleagues at Olympia Private Rehabilitation Hospital, Ivanhoe Manor and the Royal Talbot Rehabilitation Centre have given us constructive comments and we value their sharing of clinical knowledge.

Omiros Tserbatzoglou, our artist, has shown great creativity and enthusiasm in his work on both books. We have enjoyed and benefited greatly from working with Omi.

We give special thanks to our families for their thoughtful and practical assistance.
