

Hair, Hair, Everywhere!

During puberty, you will grow more hair. Hair will grow in new places on your body. It will grow in places where you never had hair before.

Hair will grow on the private area between your legs. Hair that grows here is called pubic hair.

Hair will also grow in your armpits.

PRIVATE

It is normal to find pubic and underarm hair. But it is private! If you have questions about your new hair, only talk to your parent or another adult you trust.

Hair will also grow on your face. You will see hair above your lip and on your chin. The hair on your face is not private but public. Public means it's okay for other people to see the hair that grows on your face.

At first the hair on your face will grow slowly. As you get older, it will grow faster.

If you don't shave the hair on your face, guess what you will have? A beard or a mustache!

If you do not want hair on your face, you will need to shave.

Learning how to shave takes practice. Your parents can teach you how to use a shaver. Shaving the hair on your face can help you look clean.
