

Asking Answered Questions #10

Directions

Write a question that works with each answer below. Think about all parts of the answer when creating the question. Don't let any details in the answer become unneeded.

Question:

Answer: Michael had grown a beard, Howard was eating olives, and Gracie was sleeping.

Question:

Answer: Hazel got frost bite skiing in Idaho, Jeremy got a sunburn on the beach in Florida, and Loretta was having a grand time in Phoenix.

Question:

Answer: The car door was open, Linda was making pudding, and Paul wanted to visit Detroit.

Question:

Answer: Because a zebra was born at a zoo, Abe's windshield was broken by a rock, and there was a lot of road construction around town.

Question:

Answer: Because Mya had a banana for lunch, Juan couldn't get on the Internet, and Lucy likes to sing German songs.

Imagining What Would Happen If? #6

Directions

Add the sentence starter "What would happen if..." to each phrase below to create a question that you can answer creatively. Go wild with your thoughts, but make sure your details match.

1your ears grew to be six inches higher than your head?

2your math teacher couldn't speak English?

3you knew a week ahead of time that a huge flood was going to sweep your house away?

4you woke up with your shoes on your hands and your computer on your bed?

5monkeys started talking English and Spanish?

6you found yourself alone and locked in a building?