

And, I always save my math homework for last because I don't like doing math AT ALL!

Last week, my teacher called my mom and told her I have a hard time staying on task... especially during math time. She also told her that I have seven math papers that I haven't handed in.

I Sleep with my pajamas on inside out every Friday night.

I put on both my shoes first,
and then I tie them.

I eat ice cream cones from the bottom up, even though it's messy.

“RJ, where are your math assignments?” my mom asked me.

“Oh, they’re in my desk at school,” I said.

“Why didn’t you hand them in?”

“Well, I kinda sorta didn’t quite get them all the way finished.”

"I don't like to do math. It's really hard on me!
When my answer is six, the right answer's three.
I'd much rather do anything other than math.
I'd rather eat parsnips, or even take a bath!

Besides, it's hard for me to concentrate on my math when Norma the booger picker is sitting right next to me. I never know when she'll decide to pick and flick and sometimes she even eats 'em!"
