My mom asks me what I want to eat. I look up to see the menu on the wall. I need to hurry and decide. My mom tells the cashier her order and then I do the same. After paying, the cashier gives my mom our food. My mom picks up the tray and goes to find a table. I go to another counter to get some napkins and ketchup.

We clap as the marching band plays. They sure are a talented bunch! Here comes another float. The people on the float throw some candy, and all the children run to pick it up. I can hear the sirens coming toward us. The fire truck must be on its way. Get ready to cover your ears. This is so much fun!
