

WORKER OR INMATE?

Workers lived in old fort barracks. Barracks are military rooms.

Inmates weren't the only ones living on Alcatraz Island. Many people worked at the prison. There was the warden. There were guards. They enforced rules. They punished inmates if needed. There was 1 guard for every 3 inmates.

People also worked in the kitchen. They worked in the laundry. They worked at the hospital. Inmates were assigned to work as well.

All workers lived on the island. Only men were hired. The workers' families lived there too. This included children. They lived in houses close to the prison.
