

After you jumped out of the helicopter, I went to RIVAL. I told them I wanted to work for them. I also told them a guy from ACME was going to try to steal the bike back.

Amazing.

But who stole the bike out of your van the other day?

My guess is it was someone from RIVAL. I think they knew you rode ACME's top secret, super-light bike in the race.

After I left RIVAL, I followed the signal from the tracking device inside the bike. That's how I found you. I told RIVAL I would bring you and the bike back to them.

Sam called RIVAL on her cell phone after the race. I bet they sent someone over to run your van off the road and steal the bike.
